Teachers urged to tell their stories in the final stages of battle to fix unfair school funding

By Lucy Purdy

HARINGEY'S teachers have been issued with a call to arms as the decisive battle looms in the fight to win fairer funding for local schools.

Educators across the borough are being urged to respond in force when the consultation on schools funding finally opens, and explain exactly how their pupils would reap the benefits of a fairer settlement in passionate and personal letters.

During a packed public meeting in Tottenham, those driving the Fair Deal For Haringey Children campaign urged teachers, parents and school governors to help them change the formula which leaves each of Haringey's pupils £1,100 worse off per year than those in neighbouring boroughs. A staggering proportion of Haringey's schools are facing budget deficits, with the accounts of 27 primary and secondary schools currently clouded in the red – one of the highest rates in the country. Though Haringey's teachers earn a higher, "inner London" wage and have to deal with inner-London issues such as poverty and children who do not speak English as their first language, the borough's schools receive outer-London funding from the government. But the formula is up for review this year and the crucial consultation is expected to begin within weeks.

Haringey NUT secretary, Tony Brockman warned the audience it would be a long wait for another chance if this one was not seized.

"If we miss the boat this time, it could be decades before there's another opportunity," he said. "We have had magnificent support for this campaign in Haringey and I'd like to thank everyone for this. The breadth of that support is unprecedented. It would be an absolute tragedy

I believe we can win this campaign for the benefit of Haringey's children.

if all of this came to nothing and the campaign got mired in the general election and the local unity we have established comes under pressure.

"We need to make the sharpest response where it is likely to be most effective. I believe we can win this campaign for the benefit of Haringey's children."

Hornsey and Wood Green MP Lynne Featherstone, who put Haringey's case for fairer funding to schools minister Vernon Coker in January, described the situation as "hideously unfair".

Speaking at the meeting at the Haringey Professional Development Centre, Ms Featherstone said: "This is a borough of great challenge and our teachers do a phenomenal job. They work miracles with what we have but if we had fairer funding we would be shooting ahead. The minister admitted to me this is the largest cliff-edge between neighbouring authorities in the country.

"We can't go on for X number of years with this gap. This is about education and schools

Campaigners' call to arms to gain 6.8% rise for our pupils

where life chances start – it is unfair for this disparity to continue.”

If Haringey was brought up to the level of neighbouring boroughs from April 1, it could mean an extra £39million a year for the borough – the equivalent of 15 more teachers in each of Haringey's 66 schools.

The disparity is largely because of area cost adjustment, a factor used in distributing funds between local authorities, but four new options for working out funding are now on the table but the best option for Haringey is thought to be the “hybrid” option under consideration which is likely to mean a funding increase of 6.8 per cent for Haringey, or £10.8million across the borough, without changing Haringey's outer-London status.

Councillor Lorna Reith, cabinet member for children and young people, at Haringey Council, urged everyone to get involved. She said: “I just think how much more we could do if our primary schools had that additional money and if children were going to our secondary schools at a different level. For that to happen we need to have good schools, good teachers and good facilities. This isn't about Haringey having a moan, it is a cross-party campaign which speaks with the voice of all parents, governors and schools in the borough. We have to be sophisticated in the kind of arguments that we put. We can't provide the evidence we are exactly like Hackney and Islington but we have to convince the government to change the formula.”

“Tailor the letter to your school and tell them exactly what difference this would make to you.”

Her call was echoed by Tottenham MP, and minister for higher education, David Lammy who said: “We're in the worst position and we've got to do something.”

“I'm grateful to Lynne and the NUT for ensuring this is a cross-party campaign. It's important everybody gets engaged and puts their views over forcefully.”

Sylvia Dobie, vice-chairwoman of Downhills Primary School, in Philip Lane, and also a governor at Park View Academy, in Langham Road, also spoke up. She said: “Lots of our pupils have special educational needs and very few of those have statements. I know what this money would mean to them.”

Another parent-governor at Gladesmore School, based in Crowland Road, urged people to “work together as a team” to secure the extra funding, and Jonathan Vellapah, vice-chairman of South Haringay Junior School, in Mattison Road, suggested voluntary groups working in schools should also get involved.

Haringey resident Clive Menzies added: “How we educate our children has a much wider importance on society than we realise. This shouldn't be a debate confined to people in education.”

Repair cash doubled to fix up roads

Potholes created in icy conditions

By Lucy Purdy

HARINGEY COUNCIL is to double the cash spent on maintaining the borough's road network to tackle the aftermath of the harshest winter in 30 years.

Unprecedented damage has been caused to the borough's roads after the severe weather caused a dramatic increase in the number of potholes. Some of the worst-hit roads will be completely resurfaced under a new rolling repairs programme beginning this week.

The council already has six dedicated teams fixing the most serious potholes within 24 hours and has launched a hotline for residents to report problems so they can be dealt with quickly.

An extra £1million will be added to the planned roads maintenance budget of £1m for 2010/11 with teams working "flat out" to put right the damaged roads.

Council leader Claire Kober said: "We recognise the size of the issue is such that we must redouble our efforts. We will use this extra investment to keep right on top of the large volume of work on potholes and to target investment on roads that need substantial repairs.

"Whatever the cause of potholes, they affect all road users from cyclists to bus passengers. I have instructed officers to focus on this work immediately, showing our dedication to resolving this issue."

The severe weather left roads exposed to a condition known as "freeze-thaw". Water gathering in cracks in the roads expands when frozen causing the surface to break up, which results in deeper than usual potholes appearing. Reported potholes will be marked with a fluorescent circle so residents know the pothole in their street is on the council hit list for repair. The council is advising motorists to drive with caution while repairs are under way.

Ms Kober has also written to London mayor Boris Johnson and spoken with officers at Transport for London to lobby for more funds for repairs.

Potholes can be reported online at www.haringey.gov.uk/is_potholes or by calling 020 8489 1335.

YOUNG bookworms have been turning back the pages at Alexandra Palace to celebrate World Book Day.

Thirty Year 6 pupils from Stroud Green Primary School, in Woodstock Road, went back through the pages of history when they spent a morning at the palace last Thursday.

The youngsters enjoyed a tour of the BBC studios from which the first television broadcast took place in 1936 after hearing about Ally Pally's rich history from managing director Rebecca Kane.

Rebecca, who also read the children a Horrid Henry story, said: "It was a pleasure to read to them. All of them had been skating or had been to events at the palace and I made them promise to keep coming until they are too old to make it up the hill!"

Penny Fletcher, one of the teachers who accompanied the children, said: "The children were excited at the chance to see the birthplace of the BBC. Year 6 are very keen readers and really enjoyed hearing Rebecca read a funny story." □ A travelling exhibition setting out plans for the future management of Alexandra Palace takes a tour of the borough from next week. Residents can take a look at the plans and describe their ideal palace during the roadshow from March 15. It will call at Highgate Library, Hornsey Library, Alexandra Palace Library, Marcus Garvey Library, Wood Green shopping centre and Alexandra Palace.

Primary school pupils book day at Ally Pally

Police raid hauls in heroin worth £4.5m

HEROIN with a street value of £4.5million has been seized by police in Finsbury Park.

One hundred kilos of the drug was found in the back of a Renault van stopped by officers in Upper Tollington Park last Thursday, as part of an operation carried out by Trident officers helped by armed officers from the CO19 specialist firearms unit.

Two men and a woman have since been charged with conspiracy to supply Class A drugs after they were arrested on the same day and have been remanded in custody.

Detective Inspector Malcolm Davies, of Trident, described the haul as a "major seizure". He added: "This seizure and arrests demonstrates our commitment to disrupting and dismantling major organised crime networks in London."

Manslaughter after lovers' fatal quarrel

A MAN from Tottenham has been convicted of manslaughter after he used a large knife to stab his former lover in the leg, causing him to bleed to death.

A court last week heard how Robin Clarke, of Avenue Road, had been involved in an intimate relationship with Daryl Phillips since December 2008. After the relationship soured, the pair had a heated argument on May 16 2009 which resulted in Mr Phillips being stabbed in the leg.

The 39-year-old, originally from Trinidad, was pronounced dead at 3.35am that day after haemorrhaging from the stab wound as he lay in the bathroom of the house in Avenue Road.

Clarke, 40, told officers he could not remember what had happened and blamed Mr Phillips. Detective Chief Inspector Tim Duffield said: "The defendant had refused to admit his guilt, but rather attempted to apportion blame on Mr Phillips. Thankfully the jury saw through this."

Clarke will now be sentenced on March 26.

After the recent march to save health services,

MP condemned for ignoring Labour's part in threat to A&E

HARINGEY Labour Party has been accused of "crass electioneering" for claiming in a leaflet to be heading the fight to save hospital services.

Tottenham MP David Lammy has been singled out as a hypocrite after campaigning to save services at The Whittington and North Middlesex Hospitals, despite being part of the government overseeing the controversial review.

Labour has been posting leaflets through letterboxes in Haringey in recent weeks, claiming to be "leading the charge" against proposed cuts.

Haringey Liberal Democrat leader Robert Gorrie said: "I was at the demonstration last week and the people pushing themselves to the front were a long row of Labour politicians – the people responsible for things being a in a complete mess."

The current review of hospitals stems from Labour health "tzar" Lord Ara Darzi's overhaul of London health services – a review implemented under the current Labour administration. Former Labour health secretary Alan Johnson signed off the Barnet, Enfield and Haringey clinical strategy which removed frontline services from Chase Farm Hospital in Enfield in the face of mass opposition. Plans leading on from that now threaten North Mid and The Whittington.

The Whittington is also facing a staggering bill for a huge refurbishment project carried out by private firm Jarvis PLC under a private finance initiative championed by Gordon Brown while he was chancellor. Instead of paying the £32million upfront for the work, the scheme may cost taxpayers £158million.

A report by the British Medical Association said NHS London needs to cut £5billion by 2017. Those behind the review in Enfield, Barnet, Haringey, Islington and Camden admitted cost-cutting is behind the shake-up.

Neither the prospective parliamentary candidate for Hornsey and Wood Green Karen Jennings nor David Lammy wished to comment.

Disingenuous: The Labour leaflet

Bosses face more public grillings – but will not commit on A&E destiny

HEALTH chiefs faced yet another grilling at a public meeting to discuss a cost-cutting review on Thursday.

More than 300 people packed out the hall at Greig City Academy in Hornsey to ask questions of Rachel Tyndall, chief executive of the North Central London Review Panel, and NHS Haringey chairman Richard Sumray. Though the pair refused to say whether The Whittington's A&E would remain open if a public consensus was against the proposal, they did answer some questions residents had about consultation.

Hornsey and Wood Green MP Lynne Featherstone, who helped arrange the meeting, said: "Things have moved on since we first heard about the proposal to close the A&E – there are now seven draft options, four of which end 24-hour A&E at The Whittington. This was a chance to hear from the NHS bosses and, more importantly, a chance for voices to be heard."

Bosses behind the plans, which could see blue-light services at The Whittington closed as well as the Highgate Hill hospital's maternity ward, were quizzed on the extent to which services could be farmed out to private companies, what transport would be needed for it to be viable and how the Royal Free Hospital in Hampstead would cope with an influx of thousands of patients from The Whittington, if that option goes ahead.

Ms Featherstone said: "Thank you to the hundreds who came out to have their voices heard. The mood of the meeting was clear – 370 against closure and zero for."

"I'm particularly grateful to the many heart-rending personal accounts of how The Whittington had made a difference to their lives."

"I hope NHS bosses will go back to the drawing board and take note of the message from our community – The Whittington A&E must stay."

Haringey Labour accused of deceiving voters

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

'Crass': David Lammy MP marches alongside other senior Labour members

More stories from the marchers that prove a hospital's life-changing role

JENNY GOODWIN and her 12-year-old daughter Ellie came from Muswell Hill to protest against cuts at The Whittington.

Ellie was treated for suspected appendicitis at the hospital and her brother suffers from severe asthma so is also a frequent visitor. Jenny said: "We've used the hospital a lot and whenever we go it's absolutely packed."

Another young couple from Tollington Park, Finsbury Park, have never had cause to use the hospital but decided to come out anyway. Jaki Holden, 32, said: "Fingers crossed we've never had to use The Whittington but you never know when you'll need it. That's why we've come along."

WHEN Michael Warren suffered a potentially fatal burst appendix, staff at The Whittington were on hand to diagnose the cause of his excruciating pain.

During scans while being treated, medics also spotted some abnormal lumps. Though thankfully they were benign, they were removed at the same time leaving grateful Michael with a clean bill of health.

Having The Whittington nearby also proved indispensable for his five-year-old daughter Niamh when she was struck down with a painful ear infection last Boxing Day. Michael said: "We rang up and were told we could take Niamh down straight away."

"They were great and gave her medication that same day. Over Christmas that could have been awful but luckily the hospital was right there."

Michael explained why the hospital is so important – particularly for families with young children like his own.

"It's been in Highgate Hill for years and people will feel a lot more secure if it stays there," he said. "We're lucky because it's on our doorstep – and we'd like it to remain so."

Images released in manhunt to catch drunken mob who battered two cabbies

A DRUNKEN mob which may have been responsible for the assault of two minicab drivers in Wood Green are sought by police.

Detectives from Haringey's Community Safety Unit are investigating the assaults, which took place at about 2am on January 30 outside the minicab office in Berners Road.

It is thought a drunken group of suspects had been refused a cab at the office and may have acted in retaliation.

They approached a 44-year-old cab driver who was sitting in his car and punched him in the face, also damaging the wing mirror.

CCTV images of the group, who are thought to have included three men and a woman, have been released in an attempt to track them down for questioning.

Another 50-year-old driver left the cab office to try to prevent any more damage when the group turned on him, forcing him to the floor and kicking and punching him.

The suspects are then thought to have fled down Redvers Road. The second driver went home where his family took him to North Middlesex University Hospital in Edmonton.

Detective Constable Stephen Bent said: "There was an earlier disturbance outside the Jolly Anglers public house in Station Road, Wood Green, which we believe may have involved the same group of people.

"I'm keen to hear from anyone who witnessed either incident or recognises the individuals in the CCTV stills."

Anyone with information should contact DC Bent of Haringey's Community Safety Unit on 020 8345 1939 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

LUCY YOUNG

Playing fields protest enjoys victory

Vocal: Michelle Gardiner with Malcolm Springthorpe, Martina Langan, Frank Murray and Helen and Ray Grant

A VICTORIOUS end to 25 years of campaigning seems within the grasp of a sports charity which has fought a "long and hard" fight to save playing fields from redevelopment.

Community Action Sport has made an offer to Haringey Council to buy Bull Lane Playing Fields and Pasteur Gardens after it was awarded £750,000 by the London Marathon Trust. Campaigners have waged a long battle to safeguard the space along with neighbouring Pasteur Gardens.

Malcolm Springthorpe, a resident who has been involved in the campaign since its inception, said time was now of the essence.

"This is the most important thing that's happened with the campaign for 25 years," he explained. "It's the first time we've been in a position to have the money available and we would really like to get a decision before the election. Last week we were formally told we had the money and as soon as we found out, we put in an offer to the council. We are all sweating now and wondering what's going to happen."

The campaign to save the grounds first formed in response to a plan to develop the playing fields, which they argue are vital to the community. Scores of meetings and the involvement of hundreds of local residents were organised.

Malcolm added: "The moral of this must be that, if at first you don't succeed, try and try again. This land falls in some of the most deprived areas of England so we knew there was a need for it. It's been tough but we just knew this was right and, when you know something is right, you just can't let go."

Council leader Councillor Claire Kober said: "We're excited to be able to give a community group the chance to make a genuine difference to their neighbourhood."

She said a decision on CAS's plans to buy the land would be made as soon as possible.

Email bulllane@hotmail.co.uk to find out more about the campaign.

A MAN who ran an illegal street gambling scam at a market in White Hart Lane has been fined.

Laurentiu Ciocoiu was fined £150 and ordered to pay £551 in costs for illegal street trading at the Sunday market in White Hart Lane. Ciocoiu was successfully prosecuted by Haringey Council's street enforcement team after a joint operation with the White Hart Lane Safer Neighbourhood team. The operation into illegal street trading at the market followed complaints from residents and businesses that street gambling was offered there.

Complaints included street games such as "find the picture card" and the sale of poorly made or counterfeit goods including DVDs.

On July 26 last year, Ciocoiu was seen offering street gambling to members of the public using small round disks on a wooden stand. His equipment was seized as well as the £84 profit he had made that day. Ciocoiu was issued with a £150 fixed penalty but failed to pay the fine and so was prosecuted and convicted at Haringey Magistrates' Court on February 15.

Illegal gambling scammer slapped with hefty fine

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for enforcement and safer communities, said: "These kinds of illegal street traders are a scourge for people running legitimate stalls at local markets."

Anyone with information about illegal street trading should contact Haringey Council on 020 8489 1000.

Grief-stricken memorial for soldier

A MEMORIAL service was held on Sunday to mark the first anniversary of the death of a soldier from Wood Green who was shot dead in Northern Ireland.

Sapper Patrick Azimkar, 21, was killed by members of the Real IRA alongside 23-year-old Mark Quinsey as they stood outside Massereene Barracks in Antrim. A piper played a lament for the men at the service organised by the Royal British Legion and church leaders made short speeches at the service. Detective Superintendent Peter Farrar told the BBC there were some with information about Patrick's killer who have yet to come forward. "Mark and Patrick's families still feel a tremendous amount of grief," he said. "We can only hope that, in time, that grief will ease."

Time to start planning

Are you over 55? Or are you a carer?
Then you need to know how the State Pension is changing

Now that people are living longer, healthier lives - how do we make sure we can live those later years well? Those of us reaching State Pension age today will probably have 20 years in retirement so it's important to think about how to fund those extra years

What is the basic State Pension?

The basic State Pension is a regular income that most people get once they've reached State Pension age. The full basic State Pension is currently around £95 a week, but the amount you get depends on how many years of National Insurance contributions you've built up, usually while working or claiming certain benefits.

How's it changing? From 6 April 2010 it will be easier for people to build up a full basic State Pension. Men and women will only need 30 years of National Insurance contributions - a reduction from normally 39 years for women and 44 for men.

Also from 6 April 2010, if you're caring for one or more sick or disabled person for at least 20 hours a week, you may be able to claim Carer's Credit, which could help you to build up your State Pension.

Plus the State Pension age for women will gradually rise over the next 10 years from 60 to 65 to match men's.

Here Suzie Newton, 57, from Reading who's married to Dave, finds out what the State Pension changes could mean for her.

Q I've only worked part-time since 2005, as I care for my mum, and I'm worried about how much State Pension I will get. Can I do anything to make sure I get the full amount?

A As you care for your mum you could be eligible for Carer's Credit - a weekly credit to help you build up your State Pension, which is being introduced from 6 April 2010. To be eligible you need to care for your mum for at least 20 hours a week and she will need to be receiving a relevant benefit, or be certified as needing the care provided.

Q That's great - I also stopped work for several years when my children were small. Is there anything else I can do to boost my State Pension?

A You may already have more than you think so it is well worth checking. But if you haven't and your husband, Dave, has clocked up a good National Insurance record you may be able to top up your State Pension through him, once you've both reached State Pension age.

This means that you could get up to 60 per cent of the full basic State Pension - currently around £57 a week. At the moment only married women can claim some State Pension through their husbands and they have to wait till their husbands have claimed their State Pension.

But from 6 April 2010 they may be able to claim the top-up even if their husbands put off claiming their State Pension. And husbands and civil partners will be able to claim too, as long as their wives or civil partners were born after 5 April 1950 and have reached State Pension age.

Alternatively, you may find buying some voluntary National Insurance contributions to boost your basic State Pension is a good option for you. There are time limits for paying, usually people can fill gaps in the last six years.

There's plenty of information to help you take the right steps at www.direct.gov.uk/betterfuture, or call 0800 678 1132* to find out more. Remember that everyone's circumstances are different so it's important to check your options before making any decisions.

*Calls are free from BT land lines but may not be from another phone company, a mobile phone or if calling from abroad. Suzie's circumstances are based on a

We're making it easier for more people to build up a full basic State Pension. We're reducing the number of years you have to work or care for someone to get the full amount. It was 44 years for men and 39 years for women. From this April it will be 30 years for everyone.

Picking a sprig or two of Buddy Holly

JOHN Plews can't remember exactly what he was doing, "The day the music died" but he can remember the front page of next day's paper.

"A copy of The Daily Mirror came through the letter box with a big picture of Buddy Holly on the front with this black line around it telling the world about the plane crash" said the director.

"I was 12 years old but a big fan and still have my membership card of The Buddy Holly Fan Club dated 1958.

"At the time I was playing in a group and a lot of kids were inspired by this ordinary lad who wrote his own songs and formed a group with his three mates."

Continuing his love affair, John has secured the rights to direct the first fringe production of one of the biggest hits in the West End of the past 20 years - Buddy - The Buddy Holly Story, opening Upstairs at the Gatehouse this Friday night.

Two weeks into rehearsals and John has already been encouraged by an unexpected phone call from one of the main players in this

ADAM HOLT

Band practice: The Buddy Holly Story tells the story of 1950s icon rock 'n' roll tale.

"I was phoned by Buddy's widow, Maria Elena Holly, from Dallas," he said, laughing.

"She rang to wish us luck and I had this fascinating 20-minute conversation.

"I was able to ask how tall she was - she's five foot - which pleased me because the actress playing her is just over five foot, what colour hair she had at the time and all these other useful answers direct from the horse's mouth."

Buddy - The Buddy Holly Story at Upstairs at the Gatehouse in Highgate until April 18.

Go Greek to fill your beak in a Mediterranean haven

The Gannets

Babinondas, 598 Green Lanes, Palmers Green, 08714 268 550

IT WAS lucky that I was accompanied by Gobbly Gannet to Babinondas in Palmers Green.

We were seated as soon as we swooped through the door and offered drinks in an instant.

I was perturbed about having to plead with the waiter to get house wine by the glass as opposed to a bottle (you never want to see a tipsy gannet), but I succeeded in the end.

It was perfectly pluggable and went nicely with the Greek grub. The waiter took our order and we were promptly served more food than we could stuff our gannety beaks with.

We shared the Babinondas Meze (£17.50 per person) which was Gobbly Gannet's dream come true.

It's a feast for a minimum of two but could be enough for more.

We started with picky bits, olives etc which were so-so, then were served up a table full of scrumptious seafood meze which consisted of more dips than a gannet could possibly ever need. Squid, prawns, salad, pitta and what seemed like a thousand other mini dishes.

Then there was meat; lots of meat - gammon with cheese on top, meatballs, calamari, a meat platter with delicious lamb and other morsels. Every time we thought that there could be no more food heading our way another flock of little plates landed on our tablecloth. It was all cooked perfectly.

With the amount of bread served on the side, which we hardly touched - we get enough of that down at the pond - the meal would have easily been enough for four. I should imagine though, that if four people ordered the meze, the amount of food (and cost) would increase to double our experience!

Gobbly Gannet gobbled to his heart's content and I kept up pretty well. Peering over our mountain of food I noticed everyone in the restaurant having a good time. There was a lively vibe and the waiters were as chirpy as could be.

The place has a Mediterranean, cosy feel and is great for big hearty family meals, dates or just good straightforward gannety gobbling.

Drinks were reasonably prices and our evening came to under £50.

We waddled off; two happy and replete gannets.

● Opening Hours: Mondays to Saturdays 6pm - 11.30pm and Sundays, noon to 10pm.

Unbounded lunacy

Shutter Island (15)

Dir: Martin Scorsese
Starring: Leonardo DiCaprio, Mark Ruffalo, Ben Kingsley

SHUTTER Island is bonkers – stark raving, padded cell, loop the loop, sandwich short of a picnic ga ga.

Set in a mental institute for the criminally insane this is perhaps no bad thing, but it often feels as though everyone has jointly lost the plot in this Gothic, lobotomised melodrama.

And yet... being a Scorsese film it is always terribly watchable with one great, crazed plot twist that only a director of his panache could pull off.

Based on Dennis Lehane's novel of the same name it's entirely set on a heavily fortified island, somewhere off the US mainland, where lies the sinister-looking Ashecliffe Hospital.

Law enforcer Teddy Daniels (DiCaprio) and his new partner, Chuck (Ruffalo) have travelled to the island to investigate the disappearance of a clever murderess from a locked cell.

To the accompaniment of endless rain, wind and even a hurricane, the two travel down dark corridors where they meet the suave Dr Cawley (Kingsley) who might or might not be conducting the most ghastly experiments on his patients' brains, a variety of nutty inmates wandering around the Hammer Horrorsque Ward C, and even the majestic spectral sight of Max Von Sydow as the creepy ex Nazi Dr Naehring.

With more twists than Chubby Checker on a night out it plays exactly like a best-selling page turner in which character and authenticity have mostly gone to the wall for the sake of thrills and grisly spills. The old chestnut of, "Am I mad or is it the world?" is milked for all its worth but in the end what we have here is good, old-fashioned hokum in the manner of Scorsese's Gangs Of New York rather than the more intelligent The Departed.

Replacing De Niro as the director's main muse – although Bobbie does make one weirdo appearance in keeping with the tone of the flick – DiCaprio is perfectly watchable, and it's enjoyable watching him going more and more deranged (proven in his choice of ties), while Kingsley is the height of sophistication, keeping us guessing right until the end if he's friend or fiend.

Now Showing...

Alice in Wonderland (PG)

Tim Burton's dark vision is let down by a conventional script that borrows from every fantasy adventure of the last decade. Still, there's lots to enjoy particularly Helena Bonham Carter and Johnny Depp fighting for the Utterly Bonkers Crown as the Red Queen and Mad Hatter.

One of the worst films of any damn year. Ghastly rom-com about an American who goes to Ireland because, apparently, Oirish girls can propose to their suitors on February 29.

The Lovely Bones (12A)

Peter Jackson's disappointing adaptation of the Alice Sebald bestseller is a saccharine mess that's lost its edge. A murdered 14-year-old tries to help the living bring her killer to justice.

A Single Man (12A)

Revelatory performance from Colin Firth and direction from fashion designer Tom Ford in this beautifully realised adaptation of the Christopher Isherwood novel. A middle-aged, gay academic plans to kill himself on one crisp, November day in Los Angeles circa 1962.

Omega Lettings wins Haringey Contract offering 3 Year Guaranteed Rents

Omega Lettings are proud to announce our new 3 year guaranteed rental scheme set up in partnership with the London Borough of Haringey. Following a successful tender process, Omega Lettings now require in excess of 200 properties within Haringey and 1.5 miles in the boroughs of Enfield, Barnet, Islington, Hackney and Waltham Forest within the next 3 months.

Given this uncertain environment, Omega Lettings appreciate that landlords are looking for as much security as possible when it comes to letting out their properties. This security can be found through innovative schemes allowing councils – in partnership with leasing providers such as Omega Lettings – to provide quality accommodation to people who have lost their homes. It should also provide landlords with long-term tenants and peace of mind as the scheme guarantees a rental income for three years.

Private Sector Leasing schemes are now attracting a number of private sector landlords due to the guaranteed rental income, with no voids, for three years and no agency fees. The schemes that are run by Omega Lettings, a private-sector manager of leased social housing throughout North London, provide all these with prompt rental payments via BACS. Omega Lettings does not charge commission or management fees with regards to the leasing schemes and offers a free and immediate valuation service for all properties.

For further information on Private Sector Leasing guaranteed rent schemes throughout North London, Omega Lettings can be contacted on 020 8988 2838 or @ www.omegallettings.com.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1989.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement; (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem appropriate before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions. 12. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

ROMAN RAID

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Midnight train to Moscow: Pavlyuchenko goes for the acrobatic at Craven Cottage, but reports suggest the striker will return home in the summer

Moscow club still tracking Pavlyuchenko as Lokomotiv president claims 'Roman wants to return to Russia'

By Lee Husson

LOKOMOTIV MOSCOW are planning a fresh raid for Tottenham's Roman Pavlyuchenko in the summer after falling short in their bid to take the in-form striker back to his homeland in January.

Pavlyuchenko, who has been restored to the starting line-up in recent weeks after spending much of the season sat on the bench, was on the verge of joining the Russian club during the New Year, but negotiations eventually broke down after Robbie Keane was granted a loan move to Celtic until the end of the campaign.

Lokomotiv, however, are still interested in securing the player for next season, and are reportedly planning an improved bid on the £10million January offer.

Club president Nikolay Naumov told the Daily Mail: "We have spoken to Roman about this. He wants to return to Russia, and if he does return he will only come to our team."

Meanwhile, Spurs boss Harry Redknapp has warned his side that they are not guaranteed a spot in the FA Cup semi-finals after a goalless stalemate at Fulham on Saturday set up a replay at White Hart Lane in two weeks' time.

Spurs will go in to the match as favourites, but the manager is wary of an upset against Roy Hodgson's surprise package of a side – still going strong in the Europa League after eliminating holders Shakhtar Donetsk last week to progress into the last 16.

"We kept possession well, though we didn't create many chances," he said.

"Of course we'll be the happier side. Before we came here we would have taken the draw.

"This is a difficult place to come.

"They're well managed and coached and are not easy to play against.

"A replay gives us a good chance at home and we're still bang in there.

"We've got a big chance, but I bet Shakhtar thought they were favourites for the second leg of that Europa League tie.

"It didn't work out that way, though. Fulham's win was one of the results of the season."

Spurs return to league duty this weekend when they entertain Blackburn Rovers in Saturday's early kick-off (12.45pm).

Roman wants to return to Russia. He will only come to our team.

Borough denied point by the woodwork

Kingsbury London Tigers 2 Haringey Borough 1
Molten Spartan Premier Division

HARINGEY BOROUGH were denied a last-gasp equaliser by the frame of the goal on Saturday as they suffered a narrow defeat at Kingsbury London Tigers.

With Borough trailing 2-1 deep in stoppage time, Andreas Loizou's free-kick into the box was headed down by Bosun Adebaki into the path of Adam Scotcher, who launched a powerful drive which crashed back off the crossbar and away to safety as the final whistle blew.

The hosts took the lead in just the third minute as Borough keeper Brian Sealey was beaten by a speculative long-range effort from Hardy Pinto

An injury to Billy Haspineall forced Fabiano Durimel to be introduced as an early substitute, and he made an immediate impact by levelling the scores with a clinical finish on 21 minutes.

Kingsbury restored their advantage six minutes into the second half when Aderito Manuel's persistence enabled him to shrug off a challenge before unleashing a swerving shot across Sealey and into the net.

Lloyd Opara was twice thwarted by home keeper Axinte Valentin as Borough searched for a second equaliser, but they had created few clear-cut chances before Scotcher was cruelly denied at the death.

Haringey Borough host Brimsdown Rovers tomorrow (7.45pm).

Boss Massara keeps the faith

HEAD coach James Massara insists that the London Skolars are heading in the right direction even though their miserable start to the rugby league season continued on Sunday when they bowed out of the Carnegie Challenge Cup with a heavy defeat at the hands of leading French outfit Limoux Grizzlies.

The Skolars have been beaten in every match they have played so far this campaign and, after holding their own in the first half, they fell away badly after the interval on this occasion as they slumped to a 42-16 loss.

But Massara is refusing to be too disheartened and remains hopeful that results will start improving soon.

"We've worked hard and a lot of stuff is starting to come right," he said.

"We have to start believing, we know we can compete. Limoux are used to winning and played some good football, but we allowed them too much of the ball."

Gareth Honor and Curtis Cunningham scored tries for the Skolars in the first half, both converted by Paul Thorman, as they only trailed by four points at the interval.

But the hosts could only manage a single Matt Thomas try after the break as their French visitors cut loose – running in eight tries in total for a resounding win.
